

WHITE QUESTIONED IN LORIMER PROBE

CONFESSED BRIBE TAKER REPLIES TO STINGING QUESTIONS REGARDING CHICAGO TRIBUNE STORY.

SENATE TARIFF DEBATE

Cotton Tariff Act Reported to Senate Started Lively Debate on Various Points—Apportionment Bill to President.

Washington, Aug. 4.—With stinging questions Lorimer's counsel today resumed the cross-examination of Chas. A. White, the confessed bribe-taker, before the Lorimer committee.

While he admitted he lied when he wrote Lorimer in December, 1909, that he had finished the "Confession" story.

"When you wrote Lorimer you had been offered $2,500 a word, you told a cold, bold lie?" asked the cross-examiner.

"It was a falsehood," replied White. "What are you smiling at?" suddenly demanded the counsel. "At the way you put it," he answered.

White said that he had been "coerced in a degree" to let the Chicago Tribune print the story, "because they had turned it over to the state's attorney."

Asked if he realized that he violated his oath of office and made himself infamous by the alleged bribe-taking, White replied:

"Yes, and I know those who were paying me were doing the same thing—so were the special interests who were putting up the money to do it."

Cotton Tariff Bill.

The House cotton tariff bill, as reported to the senate today, precipitated a lively debate.

Martin asked that it be referred to the finance committee with instructions to report Aug. 21. Senator Overman favored Aug. 21.

Senator Martin's motion carried and Chairman Penrose announced that the committee would report the bill back probably tomorrow.

Headings on the proposed "Trust" legislation will begin Nov. 15. "This was decided by the senate interstate commerce committee today."

House Passed Bill.

The House passed the reapportionment bill as amended by the senate. The bill now goes to the President.

Senator La Follette and Member Underwood were appointed a sub-committee to consider and report the differences between the two houses on the wool revision bill.

Gen. P. McCabe of the department of agriculture, a supporter, told the House investigating committee today he, and not Dr. Wiley, recommended the prosecutions for violations of the pure food law.

McCabe said the food and drugs board, of which Wiley was a member, virtually ceased to exercise the control of prosecutions since the issuance of "General order No. 110."

Free List Bill.

The farmers' free list bill was sent to the conference after the senate refused to accept the House amendment placing lemons on the free list.

Pending the executive session, the arbitration treaties remained on the table today.

Chairman Cullom of the foreign relations committee expressed a hope of ratification by this congress, but admitted some opposition had developed.

Treaty Copies Sent Out.

Immediately after the senate convened today President Taft transmitted by special messenger the copies of the American-British and American-French peace arbitration treaties signed here yesterday.

PLANS FOR WOMEN'S DAY AT STATE FAIR

Elaborate Program Is Being Planned For Women and Many Innovations Will Be Made.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 4.—Every Wisconsin woman engaged or interested in the advancement of every phase of woman's work, should be interested in the fact that one day during the State Fair will be given over entirely to the gentle sex to advance their practical needs and theoretical whims.

The club woman, the fraternal woman, the suffragist and the suffragette, the factory and store girl, the traveler and the woman of the fireside, will all be represented by leaders among them.

A spirited contest is being waged for leadership among the various organizations and many prominent women of Wisconsin have been suggested to direct the exercises and carry out the aims of the board.

Should the women selected to manage the day's doings be able to organize a program that will require a separate building or tent, the Board of Agriculture will provide it.

It will be a great day. Men may listen, but he will not be heard. He will just be mere man on Woman's day.

INCREASED POSTAL RATE IS PROTESTED

Religious Educators Declare It Will Result in a Large Curtailment of Their Publications.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

New York, Aug. 4.—That Postmaster General Hitchcock's recommendation for increased postal rates would be a serious blow to education, particularly religious education, is the contention of W. S. Shallenberger, former second assistant postmaster general, who appeared before the postal rate commission representing numerous religious publications.

He called attention to the millions of religious publications carried in the mails, and asserted that an increase in the postal rate would necessitate a large curtailment of publication. He recommended that the postoffice department consider means to curb the carrying of advertising and similar matter "which is destined only for the waste basket."

Shallenberger took direct issue with Hitchcock's contention that the postoffice department should produce revenue, declaring that in no other country is this course pursued.

DISPLAY OF GOODS WITHOUT COVERING VIOLATES NEW LAW

State Food Commissioner Reports Frequent Prosecutions of Persons Violating New Sanitation Law—Local Health Officers Have Power.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Aug. 4.—Dairy and Food Commissioner J. Emory reports that frequent prosecutions are being brought in different parts of the state against parties who persist in violating the sanitary laws governing the manufacture and sale of dairy and food products. The 1911 legislature enacted a new "law" placing greater restrictions around the display of such goods in the interest of public health. The section reads:

"The display or storing of fruits, vegetables, or other food products on the sidewalk, or outside the place of business is hereby prohibited, unless such fruits, vegetables, or other food products are securely covered by glass, wood or metal cases, or enclosed in tight boxes, bins or barrels, and all such cases and containers raised at least two feet above the sidewalk."

Another section provides that no dairy or other food product which has been prepared for eating shall be displayed or offered for sale unless properly protected from flies, dust, dirt or other injurious contamination, "by being suitably covered with a glass, wood or metal case or covering."

Duty of Health Officer.

The new law makes the duty of the local health officers co-ordinately with the dairy and food commissioner and his assistants and inspectors, to enforce the act. The fine for violations is $10 to $50 or imprisonment for 60 days.

A compilation of the dairy and food laws enacted in 1911 has been published and is ready for distribution. One of the more important of these is directed against impure, unhealthful, misbranded, adulterated or comforted food or drug products and makes it the duty of the dairy and food commissioner to enforce it.

If it is erroneous, I shall withdraw criticism of Mr. Underwood, so far as it is based on his action in that particular case."

The statehood bill for admission of Arizona and New Mexico, will receive support of the progressives when it comes for a vote next Monday. The Louisa bill, for resubmission of the matter to voters of the state, will probably be adopted.

STRIKE LOOKED FOR ON MEXICAN ROADS

General Satisfaction Among Trainmen It Is Thought Will Result In Calling A Strike.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

El Paso, Texas, August 4.—Though nothing has developed to verify the report that a general strike would be declared tomorrow on the National Railways of Mexico system, it is the general belief among those acquainted with the situation that the threatened strike is certain to materialize at an early date. The dissatisfaction of the employees, particularly the firemen and brakemen in the controversy to some extent, the real cause of the trouble is found in the complaint of the Mexicans that the better positions, such as those of conductors and engineers, are held by Americans and that the latter are paid higher wages than the natives.

SCRAPPERS GIVEN
"TIE PASSES" OUT OF TOWN TODAY

Foreigners Who Engaged in Drunken Brawl at New Yards Last Night Ordered Out of Town Immediately.

Four men, arrested last night at South Janesville by Sheriff H. H. Hanson after a drunken brawl, were released from the county jail and city lockup this morning and given "tie passes" out of the city, with a warning that if they did not leave immediately or caused further trouble, severe punishment would be dealt them.

The quartette were arrested last night about eight o'clock, the sheriff going there on a call about half past seven o'clock. The party originally numbered five, but one, a tall American, escaped while the sheriff was taking two of the others into custody.

Besides the American and the German, there were two Slavs and a Pole, all of the class of floating population which works semi-occasionally and gets drunk with regularity. The five had been drinking and all were intoxicated when the scrap started. A call was sent for the sheriff and he went to South Janesville in an automobile. One of the Slavs whose arm was wrenched and who was marked with heelprints, was picked up by a switch engine crew, walking at the top of his voice that his leg was broken. The engine crew, thinking the man seriously injured, placed him on the engine and brought him to the Five Points. The man was taken to the police lockup. Examination failed to seriously, however, that the man was hurt.

Two scratches on the left side of his face, it developed this morning, were caused when he fell in getting off a train. Two of the other prisoners were taken to the county jail by Sheriff Hanson and locked up. Shortly afterward a telephone message was received from Shoplery that another of the men was being held there, the train crew who had seen him climb on a freight train, turning him over to the marshal there. The sheriff went in an automobile to Shoplery and brought back the German.

The Slav, who received the worst beating, had his shirt badly torn, and all, with the exception of the German, who recovered his hat from one of the Slavs, were hatless and had minor bruises. Hats were supplied them and they left town immediately.

SURPRISE ON EVENT OF GOLDEN WEDDING

Entertainment Given Last Evening By Rebekah Lodge For Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Brunson.

Following the regular meeting of the Rebekah Lodge No. 171, at the West Side Old Fellows hall last evening, a surprise entertainment was given by the members of the lodge in honor of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Brunson, 513 Milton avenue, who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary yesterday.

The event came as an entire surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Brunson. A delightful program had been prepared and which was given follows: Instrumental Music—Miss Mae Church Song—"Darling, I Am Growing Old" Remarks—Mrs. Lynn Whaley Remarks—James A. Fathers Original Poem, composed and read by Mrs. Belle White. Presentation Speech—J. P. Carle. Following the program a social good time was enjoyed and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. The entire company wished Mr. and Mrs. Brunson many happy wedding days to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Brunson were married at White Pigeon, Michigan, August 3, 1861. Michigan was their native state, but a few years after their marriage they moved to Rock County, locating at first at the city of Beloit. They lived there several years, and then moved to Janesville in 1872, and have resided here since that time. They have made friends in Janesville, who extended congratulations on their fiftieth wedding anniversary yesterday.

JOHN DOOLEY ARRESTED AGAIN FOR DRUNKENNESS

Was Taken Into Custody This Morning, After He Had Driven Family From Home, It Is Alleged.

John Dooley, listed on the police records as an "old offender", was again arrested by the police on Cherry street this morning in a state of intoxication. Dooley, who is a man over seventy years of age, it is alleged, came home intoxicated and proceeded to drive his family out of the house. A call was sent for the police and Dooley was taken to the station and locked up. He may be arraigned this afternoon.

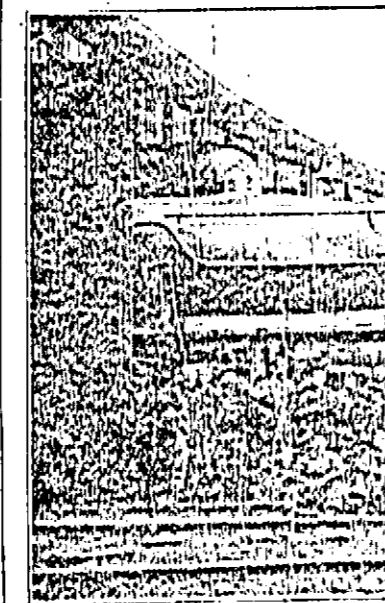

Dooley furnishes a peculiar problem for the police and court officials. For two or three years he has been a peaceable law-abiding citizen. A few months ago, however, his old habit of intemperance came back and he has since been jailed frequently. Punishment, however, his sentences does not seem to affect the man as he soon falls into the habits of the police.

ANOTHER ENCOUNTER AT SOUTH SIDE SHOPS

South Janesville Stirred By Jangling of Four Foreigners Last Night—Favorite Rendezvous For the Hoboes.

Another night of excitement was spent at the South Janesville shops as the result of an encounter between four foreigners about 8 o'clock last night and their subsequent arrest and lodgment in the city's hotel. It seems that four fellow passengers on the Henry Wille's observation coach, had a falling out and in the encounter, that followed, one of them was thrown from his reserved seat as the freight was standing in the yards.

As this fallen one seemed to be the object of the attack the others were not satisfied and continued operations after he was down and were pummeling him rather severely. The cries of the victim attracted the attention of some hobo-men, two of whom armed themselves with revolvers and went to the rescue. When they arrived on the scene it is claimed that they found the victim stretched across the track, apparently completely knocked out, and in a position to be finished by any passing train.

In another column will be found more complete details of the arrest and treatment of the parties to the affair. Judging by the frequency of these encounters in the vicinity of the yards, South Janesville is becoming the favorite rendezvous for the hoboes and all other classes of a desperate character. Men who are employed at the shops and yards have noticed men of questionable status loitering around the yards very often of late. On one or two occasions trainmen have been accosted by these prowlers while passing through the yards, but none of them have as yet been molested. As this place is so far removed from police protection these men feel safe to undertake any sort of mischief and be able to make their get away before the police can be summoned from the city.

A special train of eleven cars passed through the city last night, en route from Iowa and northern Illinois, to Toronto, Canada with laborers to be employed on the farms in that section.

Eddie Sullivan who has been employed as call boy for some time, is now on night duty in the old house.

Otto Buege has been added to the force in the car department.

ADVERTISING AN EDUCATOR.

According to the Christian Science Monitor, Carl Schurz, in his autobiography, set down his experience as a new arrival from Germany in mastering the language he later came to use so fluently and accurately by poring day after day over the Philadelphia Ledger. Advertisements as well as news despatches and editorials were for him models of syntax and grammar. When he had mastered spelling and usage, the conquered word of phrase had the advantage of being applicable to life then and there, rather than the echo or ghost of a past era. Hence, while he was mastering English as a language, he also was mastering Americanism as an economic and political process.

Thousands of other emigrants from Europe could tell the same story. Through the verbal solicitation to trade of newspaper and magazine "ads" they have been educated in linguistics, economics and Americanism. In pondering over guides to employment, dietetics, choice of salient forms of amusement, location of homes, modes of bread winning, they have unconsciously acquired a new tongue and become assimilated to a new national point of view. What the editor often has failed to do by direct proclamation, the advertiser has frequently done by indirect creation of new wants, economic or ethical. Thus American advertising has helped transform immigrants into citizens.

Upon the native-born descendant, with ancestors at Jamestown or Plymouth, the educational power of advertisements is operative, subduing his local sectional or racial conceits by teaching him that business enterprise, mechanical ingenuity, administrative skill are not confined to any race, caste, section or state. Advertisements, carefully read by such Americans, break down narrowing pride, enlarge the horizon of republican faith, teach the real range and scope of American manufacturing output and American vending art, and make a broad-spectrum nationalism of him.

For, thanks to freedom of trade within the republic, there is no barrier of any kind between producer or consumer, inventor and user, advertiser and public. The market is continental in its scope. The national habit is avidity for print. An advertisement is understood where neither editorial nor news despatch has meaning. No wonder, then, that advertising mounts by leaps and bounds in volume and value commensurately in ethical form and ethical content.

MEANS TROUBLE FOR VIOLATORS OF THE CITY ORDINANCES

City Attorney Maxfield is Making Out Forty Complaints As Result of Yesterday's Inspection.

"It means that property owners, who have been violating the ordinances by dumping material in the river and along the river banks are to be prosecuted, unless they cease and clean up," was the statement of Mayor John C. Nichols this afternoon.

"The result of Thursday's examination of sanitary conditions of the river and its banks, has resulted in the ordering of forty complaints, being drawn up by City Attorney Maxfield, and when they are served if the order is not obeyed we shall start prosecutions."

Mayor Nichols, accompanied by J. J. Florida, assistant state fire marshal, Chief of the Fire Department, Elmer Chief of Police Appleby, City Attorney Maxfield, City Health Officer Cunningham and Alderman Hall, made an inspection of the condition along the river banks in the business section of the city, Thursday afternoon. The conditions they found to exist surprised even those who had some idea in the method of dumping property, owners disposal of sewage and refuse.

In fact assistant fire marshal Florida stated that the condition was the worst in the state, when considered from a point of view of hazards and sanitary conditions. As the result of the inspection the Mayor has ordered the City Attorney to notify the property owners to clean and stop dumping refuse in the river or along the banks, or take the consequence.

LAST NIGHT'S RAIN PLEASES FARMERS

Shower Was a Great Benefit to All Crops, Especially Late Tobacco, Potatoes and Corn.

Last night's shower apparently washed the dust of disappointment from the faces of many of the farmers and they beamed forth today bearing the smiles of encouragement. Those who have early tobacco, however, are of the opinion that any amount of rain that may come now cannot repair the damage done to their crop by the lack of rain in the past when the tobacco was developing.

The same is true of the early plantings of potatoes, especially in those sections where there is considerable sand in the soil. This is very noticeable south and east of the city. West and northwest of town, in the vicinity of Leyden, where the land is of a heavy loam, the drought has not damaged the crops to any noticeable extent. On the low land it has even favored the growth of the corn, and those who were fortunate enough to plant their corn on such land are expecting a bumper crop.

On the higher ground, however, the coming of such rains as visited this section last night are welcomed as the only possible means of saving the crops that have been retarded in their growth by the need of moisture during the past few weeks.

Early crops of tobacco promise to yield only about half a crop while the chances for an average yield of the later plantings are very favorable. It rains will come from now on until the harvest.

Contrary to the fears entertained for some time by the farmers near here their tobacco has not been damaged to any extent by the grasshoppers and they are resting their hopes now on the prospects for frequent rains. In order to be of the most benefit to the corn and tobacco heavy rains or, at least, frequent showers like that of last night are needed.

The soil is so thoroughly dried for a depth of several inches that long and heavy rains are necessary to get the moisture down to the roots of crops like corn and tobacco.

On account of this extreme dryness of the surface of the soil the crop of cabbage will be a complete failure. Some pieces of land that produced cabbage that sold for a profit of more than $100 per acre in years past, will not produce enough this year to pay for the trouble of planting and attending to it. Unlike corn and some of the other plants, cabbage has no long tap roots that pierce the subsoil and draw the moisture from there. It depends almost entirely upon moisture close to the surface where its main roots spread out over a comparatively wide area and when the top of the land becomes thoroughly dry, as it was during the past month or six weeks, the chances for the growth of this crop are not at all favorable.

God Uttered His Voice; the Earth Melted

By PASTOR RUSSELL
of Brooklyn Tabernacle

TEXT—We will not fear though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea.—Psalm 124.

I have chosen for my text a sea topic, a symbolical prophecy which, I believe, is rapidly nearing fulfillment. All Bible students recognize the fact that many of the Psalms are Messianic; that is to say, they apply to the time of the inauguration of Messiah's Millennial Kingdom. Some of them detail the peace and joy and blessings which will then prevail among men, when the great leveling processes of that time will raise all the worthy poor and degraded and will humble all the proud, establishing society under such new conditions that the new order of things is symbolically styled in the scriptures "a new heaven and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness" (II. Peter III, 13). Others of the Psalms describe in highly figurative terms the work of the Millennial Age. For instance, we read:

"Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea." Fear is the great torment of the majority of our race. It is the lash which the adversary frequently uses to drive away from God those who need his sympathy and love and succor. To such the Lord speaks tenderly saying, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." And again, God declares his name to be Love and says, "Their fear toward me is taught by the precepts of men"—not by his word (Isaiah xlii, 13). He would have us trust him as a great, loving, generous father, saying, "Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord compassioneth those who reverence him" (Psalm ciii, 13). As love, more love, perfect love, comes into our hearts it more and more casts out the fear which the adversary would inculcate and which has burned into men's minds and consciences the "doctrines of devils," to which the apostle refers (I Timothy iv, 1).

The fact that the scriptures prophetically describe the overthrowing of the social order and the great governments of the earth must not be understood to signify that the Bible counsels revolution or anarchy. On the contrary, all of God's people throughout the scriptures are counseled to live peacefully with all men, so far as possible. They are counseled not to use carnal weapons, not to take to the sword for the settlement of disputes, but rather to suffer injury. They are counseled that God is the great Over-Lord, and that although he is not now ruling directly amongst men he is fully the master of the situation in that he could at any time overthrow all opponents. He does not acknowledge that his will is now done in the earth, but tells us that it will be done by and by and encourages us to pray and to hope and to wait for it. He tells us that Satan is now the "Prince of this world" by virtue of the fact that he deceives the minds and hearts of the majority. God would have his people understand something of his great program, but he would keep this hidden from all others; hence the impossibility of explaining spiritual things to a carnal mind (I Corinthians II, 14). "None of the wicked shall understand." (Daniel xii, 10).

The great creator has contented himself with such a supervision of human affairs as leaves much responsibility in human hands. He merely interposes to raise up or to cast down on occasions when the interest of his cause and program may demand. For instance, the case of the Pharaoh, raised to the throne of Egypt, in Moses' day. God there raised to the throne a man of great determination, and hindered from reaching the throne other men not so favorable to the carrying out of the divine purposes. Thus, without interfering with the free moral agency of the king, God used the wrath of man to praise him and the remainder be restrained. Similarly, God previously raised Joseph to the governorship of Egypt for his own purposes.

We are not of those who would harass the minds of our fellows with fear. Rather we would point them to the fact that behind this cloud of trouble there is a glorious silver lining of millennial joy and blessing for all the families of the earth. Rather we would encourage all who have the hearing ear to zeal and faithfulness in their consecration, that they may "make their calling and their election sure" to a share in the kingdom glories and "escape those things coming upon the earth" (Luke xxi, 36). In a word, the gospel of Christ is not a message of damnation and fear and torture, but, as the angels declared, "Good things of great joy which shall be unto all people" (Luke II, 10).

Beginning with the sixth verse the Prophet gives a brief synoptical picture of the time of trouble and its consummation and the inauguration of universal peace. "The heathen (Gentile peoples) rage!" These words describe the tumult which will prevail amongst humanity in the great time of trouble before the climax is reached. "raging," angry voices arise from public meetings, and in the more private meetings of the lodges of labor and capital, and through the columns of the press to the extent permitted. In Germany the "raging" press for some time has been muzzled.

GOV. DENEEN'S LEG INJURED.

Horse on Which He Was Riding Collided With Carriage.

Elgin, Ill., Aug. 4.—Gov. Charles S. Deneen, commander-in-chief of the Illinois National Guard, had a narrow escape here when his horse, having been frightened, reared and plunged, then dashed into an equipage on the road leading to the review grounds.

The governor, accompanied by his aide-de-camp, was riding to Camp Deneen to review the First regiment. Beside the governor was Col. Richard J. Shand, who was mounted on a spirited animal. The colonel's horse shied and jumped against the governor's mount.

The governor's horse in turn became unmanageable. With the bit in its teeth the animal leaped off the roadway and dashed into a carriage at the side. The governor's leg was severely injured when crushed between the horse and the carriage.

ETHEL BARRYMORE BEGINS SUIT.

Papers in Divorce Case Served on Russell G. Colt.

New York, Aug. 4.—That Miss Ethel Barrymore has begun suit for absolute divorce against her husband, Russell G. Colt, and that papers in the suit have been served upon Mr. Colt, has just become known. Filing of the action marks the abandonment of attempts at reconciliation.

Learning that his wife intended to sue him either for a separation or a divorce, Mr. Colt retained Frank M. Patterson, a lawyer, who said he had been authorized to accept service for Mr. Colt in any action Miss Barrymore might bring.

It is likely the testimony in the suit will be heard by a referee. Neither the character of the testimony nor the names of the witnesses have been made known.

BIPLANE FALLS, SEVEN INJURED.

Airman Drops 100 Feet into Crowd of Spectators.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Seven persons, three of them little girls, were victims of an airplane accident at the Chicago School of Aviation's field, when Frank Bellal lost control of a big Curtiss biplane and swooped down from a height of 100 feet into a crowd of 150 spectators.

Bellal, aside from a few cuts and being badly shaken up, crawled out from the wreckage unhurt. The injured were carried off the field in a police ambulance and taken to their homes, where they were treated by physicians.

Discuss Rail Rate Litigation.

St. Louis, Aug. 4.—A conference of weighty importance to the traveling public and the big railroads began here today, when the attorney-general of seven states met to discuss railroad rate litigation. The states represented in the conference—Arkansas, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa—are all busy with railroad litigation.

The Skin and Not the Blood.

Until recently it has been a generally accepted proposition that eczema was a disease of the blood, and that in order to cure it, the blood must be purified and enriched by internal remedies. Careful experiments and scientific investigations have taught us that eczema is purely a skin disease, and curable through the skin alone. A great majority of persons afflicted with eczema have no other ailment, which is accepted as positive proof that it is purely a skin disease. Having established this fact, the chemists of the American Drug and Food Association set about to compound a prescription that would successfully cope with this disease, and after much investigating brought out Meritol Eczema Remedy, the effect of which is marvelous. If you are afflicted with this loathsome disease, do not delay trying Meritol Eczema Remedy. You will be surprised at its prompt action, its soothing effect and its permanent results. Reliable Drug Co. are commissioned by the association to sell it in Jansville.

various parts of the United States and Canada and also from Europe. Prominent speakers will address the conference during its session of sixteen days, among the number being Rev. John A. ## Birthday of Oldest Peer.

London, August 4.—Probably the House of Lords is so much to the forefront in public discussion these days, nearly all of the London newspapers made mention of the fact that today is the anniversary of the venerable Earl of Wemyss, who has the distinction of being the oldest member of that body. Though ninety-three years old the Earl shows no sign of mental decrepitude and few persons have displayed a keener interest in following the recent progress of events at Westminster than he.

Shall We Progress?

While the wide awake cities of the country are either installing a system of art lights or bettering their lighting system in some way, Jansville does not feel the necessity for better lighted streets.

If the merchants of our city would decide to discontinue lighting their windows and electric lights for only one night and we had to rely on our arc lights through the down town district, it would surely make some of our citizens realize the necessity of more lights and better lights.

Boise City, Idaho, is the latest to adopt cluster lights. The city council have just created a special improvement district and assess the abutting property for the cost of installation and maintenance is to be paid by the city. They are to have 540 standards, each having a cluster of three lights.

Jansville, get busy.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

"PLAY with your children more, mothers and fathers—both for their sakes and your own."
This is the urgent plea running through a book about games, recently published by the New York director of physical training. With all my heart, I echo it.

For it seems to me that it is just as much a parent's duty to his children to play with them as to work for them; just as much a parent's duty to himself to get happiness out of his children as to get recreation elsewhere.

One of O. Henry's most powerful stories is called "The Guilty Party." The scene of this story is a home on one of the most crowded streets of the East side, on which "the twilight falls Satan sets up his recruiting office."

"Papa, won't you play a game of checkers with me if you aren't too tired?"
"The reclining, unshaven, untidy man sitting shoeless by the window, answered with a frown:
"Checkers? No, I won't. Can't a man who works hard all day have a little rest when he comes home? Why don't you go out and play with the other kids on the sidewalk?"

"The woman who was cooking, came to the door. 'John,' she said, 'I don't like for Lizzie to play in the street. They learn too much there that ain't good for them. She's been in the house all day long. It seems that you might give up a little of your time to amuse her when you come home.'

"Let her go out and play like the rest of 'em if she wants to be amused," said the reclining, unshaven, untidy man, "and don't bother me." So ends the first part of the story.

Ten years later Lizzie, who has very fully obeyed her father's advice to play in the street, kills her lover in a fit of drunken jealousy and commits suicide.

Then O. Henry has one of his favorite "dreams." He dreams he is in the next world and sees Lizzie brought before the bar of judgment for punishment.

And what is everybody's astonishment when the angel court officer says to the angel policeman: "Now you quit making these funny arrests or you'll be transferred. The guilty party you've got to look for in this case is a red-headed, unshaven, untidy man, sitting by the window reading in his stocking feet, while his children play in the streets."

Now perhaps that's a too highly colored illustration of my thesis to appeal to you.

Well, here's a much simpler one.

One of the women who work for us was telling me the other day about her only little girl who died when she was ten years old.

"Oh, Miss Smith," she said, "I think so often how my little girl used to beg me to come out after supper and play croquet with her. And I'd say, 'Mersey, no, I've got too much to do.' And now how I wish I'd played the croquet and had some fun with her sometimes, and been sort of friends the way other mothers are. I thought then that the most important thing in the world was to keep the house and her clothes spite and span, but now I wish I'd known enough to let things go more and sometimes played with my little girl."

Of course, that's not so picturesque as O. Henry's story, but it has the merit of being absolutely true.

One of the greatest safeguards against evil a child can have is the genuine friendship and comradeship of its parents.

One of the greatest keep-young-tonics a father or mother can have is a habit of playing and romping and being friends with their children.

Every home where there are children has a Ponce de Leon fountain right within itself if the grownups only know enough to find it.

Everyone knows that children are bubbling over with light-heartedness and love of life that anyone who is with them much can't help getting some of the overflow.

If you don't play with your children, fathers and mothers, you are neglecting one of the greatest of life's opportunities—both for them and for you.

Counterfeiting of Gams.

While the demand for precious stones increases, despite counterfeits, there is shown these days an amazing ingenuity in the manufacture of the imitations, both in this country and abroad. The counterfeiting of gems has always existed, but in recent years the work has been brought to a state of perfection not dreamed of by the workers of ancient times.

How to converse.

In conversation men should not talk to please themselves, but those that hear them. Were this rule generally observed, it would make them consider whether or not the speaker be worth hearing; whether there be either wit or sense in what they are about to say; and whether it be adapted to the time when, the place where and the person to whom it is spoken.

FADS AND FASHIONS

New York, August 3.—Although the women in Paris have taken up the little coat with enthusiasm, as one of the most charming features of the summer's fashions, it is a remarkable fact that these little coats have faded but few friends in this country so far.

It is true, some of the important houses here are displaying a few charming models of such coats and here and there one may see a woman wearing one, but in Paris they are all the rage, and deservedly so.

The prominent French designers, who have shown some of the handsomest models of such coats do not wish the little coats to be considered separate entities. For that reason they reject the collar or trimming of the coat somewhere about the neck, very lightly, perhaps, very unobtrusively, but firmly enough to link the component parts of the costume into one homogeneous whole. Yet, this is not always the case, and the thrifty and clever woman may make her pliant little coat do duty with more than one costume if she so wishes.

Undergarments are a popular material for the short coat, and in linen or linen, as the French call the fine handkerchief, which is distinguished from tulle, which is our linen, with rows and trimming of silk or velvet or plain linen it works out very charmingly. Where worn with a sheer lingerie frock into whose trimming a little of the broderie Anglaise enters, such a coat is very pretty, but its use is by no means limited to association with the sheer white lingerie stuffs. This openwork embroidery is used in handsome quality upon everything from silk muslin to satin and serge.

Used under sheer semi-transparent materials of color or black this popular embroidery is to be seen on all kinds of frocks, its bold openwork design showing charmingly through the cloudy veilings. Bands of the open work embroidery trim silk, marquisette, chiffon, linen, tulle, and every material, and it is combined with the finest and the best of lace.

Short coats are formed of lace, as well as of embroidery, though the lace is more often used in combination with embroidery than alone, and the coat, entirely of lace, seldom has the cachet of the little silk coat. The collar of lace or embroidered muslin at most hides some of the little silk coat.

A short tulle costume, with a coat of the tulle, bordered in bonhomie and sporting a big belt of flat, overlapping pointed edge and embroidered muslin trimmed with a tulle of the tulle over an undershirt of the overlapping embroidery trimmed.

The very short bolero-like coat, belted just below the bust line and with a little full falling below the girdle, was introduced among the first of the short coats and is still greatly liked. The trimming and belting of coats of all kinds is noticeable in the late summer modes and produces some odd effects as well as some very delightful results.

With the lowering of the modish waist line the girled arrangement naturally assumes a flaring character, and this has given rise to a rumor that the Russian blouse will be here again in the autumn. At all events, belted coats of one kind or another are fairly sure to find a place among fall modes.

Directoire coats cut squarely away at the high waist line in front, and falling in a long, straight panel or coat tail in the back are made up without trimming other than big soft fleecus of fine muslin or net bordered by tiny frills and rills of the same sheer material finishing the half-length sleeves.

Black and white are still greatly worn in spite of the outcry about their over-popularity, and the frocks in this coloring are often the prettiest seen at smart functions. There has been a good deal of sheer white over black as a change from the long admired sheer black over white, and several of the great dressmakers have laid considerable stress upon this arrangement.

Practically all lingerie now is built on the simplest lines, so that the narrow lines of the frock may not be interfered with, and many dressmakers advise corsets that lace in front because of the narrowness and plainness of skirts at the back. Many women, however, dislike the front-lacing corsets. New corsets are very low at the top, to give a low-busted figure, but at the lower edge the material is built down to keep the hips in subjection.

The very newest notion in lingerie is the night gown bordered in color, and some of these little gowns are exceedingly "dainty." The ribbon, run through the unbordered eyelets, of course, matches the embroidery in tulle. A pretty little French robe de nuit seen the other day had a yoke and diminutive sleeves of pink tulle, scalloped and embroidered by hand, the scallops being lined together down the arm with pink ribbons run through eyelets. Yoke and main body gown were joined under a heading also run with pink ribbon. In the skirt of the gown were set two bands of the pink tulle between entro doux of lace.

The belt and the jacket continue to dominate the neckwear situation in the shops. Table after table is piled with fluffy white muslin and amazing bargains are to be picked up now in graceful neckties and the one-sided coat frills which are so smart.

The sailor collar, made of sheer lawn or organdy with an inch-wide hem at the edge, is a pretty addition to cotton frocks of dainty coloring, and these collars are matched by the cuffs which suggest the deeply hemmed organdie cuffs worn by a widow.

The regulation four-in-hand tie in all the new colors of silk and other materials is worn with the linen collar and strictly tailored shirtwaist this season. These ties are also tied with a loose knot caught by a colored silk ring. Color is used to quite an extent in tailored neckwear in various touches, either in the trimming or in the material. There are also many pretty novelties in bow form.

Silk and satin bows in combination with white lace are popular. Black satin and white lace, or satin of color and lace are in many attractive forms. Novelties in the form of flowers and fruit are worn at the base of the high collar to give an effective touch of color. Black velvet is the favored foundation for these little novelties, and the flowers or fruit of ribbon are attached to it or are arranged in dainty form.

Tailored stocks and jabots are made from both white and colored handkerchiefs. A pretty jabot is made from two small handkerchiefs, to be worn with a colored collar or a collar with a touch of color matching the jabot. Cut off a small corner from each handkerchief to make a tiny bow at the top. Use the three-cornered sections of both handkerchiefs to form ends of the jabot.

Small hats, with the sugar loaf model as the leader, are expected to be fashionable this autumn.

The Sabbath.

The change from the seventh to the first day of the week as a day of worship came with the change from Judaism to Christianity and commemorates the resurrection of Christ. For a time Jewish converts observed the Jewish Sabbath, but before the end of the apostolic period Sunday had thoroughly established itself as a day to be sanctified by rest from secular labor and public worship.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

COMBINING FOODS.

The art of combining foods is the art of doing well what should not be done at all, but there are comparatively few of those who are convinced of the soundness of the arguments in favor of the monodiet who will be so willing to put it into practice as the gentleman who has eaten only whole wheat bread and nuts for dinner and prunes for supper for two years, even though convinced that it means greatly increased efficiency and inviolable health. We have to recognize the influence of habit and of heredity and the claims of conventionality, which sometimes compel us to do what our judgment forbids. There are some good foods which alone would not support life and some are better in proper combination than alone. Milk, for instance, is made more digestible by mixture with malted cereal and oil hastens the passage of food from the stomach and inhibits the secretion of gastric fluid which is not needed for sugar fruits, which digest in the intestines. Other combinations will be considered on succeeding days.

There is no little test. There is such an unreasoning passion for activity. And so we swim the surface of all things; we never look down into their depths and see the power of help and culture which they might contain.

COOKING EN CASSEROLE.

Casserole cookery is steadily advancing in favor, as it is an easy way of serving the main dish with vegetables. The cheapest cuts of meat, by the long cooking and with the addition of vegetables to flavor, make an inexpensive dish.

Chicken is delicious cooked and served en casserole.

Clean and separate the chicken at the joints, roll in flour and fry in butter or pork fat until brown on both sides. Put the joints into the casserole, add a pint of stock which is made by stewing the wing tips and neck, cook an hour and a half, then add parboiled potatoes and carrots, the potatoes in balls and the carrots cut in slices; brown in butter before adding to the dish. A few mushrooms are a decided improvement in the dish. Cover and cook until the vegetables are tender, then serve from the casserole.

A boiled dinner is delicious cooked in a casserole, and so, of course, not boiled, but baked. The cabbage and potatoes are parboiled, as well as the carrots and turnips, before adding to the pork in the casserole. Cover with the liquor that the carrots were cooked in and bake until all the vegetables are soft.

Pigeons en Casserole.—Clean carefully without cutting up, and stuff with a bunch of celery, which may be removed before serving. Parboil for half an hour in water to cover, and use the same water to cook them in after putting in the casserole.

Vegetables may be added if desired, though the celery flavor is sufficient to make a fine flavored dish. Season when the pigeons are put to cook in the oven, and when tender remove and use the gravy, thickened for a sauce, to pour around them when serving.

THE JUSTIFICATION.

Second Ditto—Don't pity him at all. He got what he deserved for trying to support a hanger-on.

HAND WASHER FOR LINENS

Wooden Rollers Work Soap Suds In Fabric Without Damage.

The washing of linen fabrics without injuring them is not so easy as some people think. To get the soap suds properly into the folds and whether a brush or only the hands are used there is apt to be damage. A Frenchman has designed a little apparatus that is said to solve the problem admirably. This is a pair of grooved wooden rollers set into a metal frame, with a handle at the top. The linen is first thoroughly soaked in soapy water and is then placed on an inclined board. The washer is then rolled over the fabric with not too much pressure but just enough to work the soap suds into the folds. This operation distributes the pressure evenly and smoothly and prevents undue strain on any one part of the fabric.

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house."

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her."

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."

FASHIONS AS SEEN ON THE STREETS OF PARIS.

The above pictures taken exclusively for The Gazette show the latest models in summer fashions as they appear on the streets of Paris. The pictures show several novelties in dress design typical of the latest fads.

DESIGNS FOR ENCLOSING INITIALS ON LINGERIE UNDERWEAR.

The designs for enclosing initials are very effective on the underwear. They are worked in the solid satin stitch, with the exception of the stems and the wreath which are done in the outline stitch. Small initials or a monogram are worked in the center of each. Mercerized cotton No. 25 is used for the embroidery.

FOPE ISSUES ORDER ELIMINATING FEAST DAYS OF THE CHURCH

Observance of Church Holidays Is Postponed Until the Following Sunday To Accommodate Modern Business Conditions.

The weekly feast of patron saints, such as that of St. Patrick's day, are no longer to be observed on holidays of obligation in the Roman Catholic church, according to a "modi proprio" recently issued by Pope Pius X, which has just reached Milwaukee. The celebration connected with such patron saints' days are to be postponed until the following Sundays.

There are eight days of obligation which are not included in this new ruling from Rome. They are, Christmas day, the days of the Circumcision, Ascension, Immaculate Conception, Assumption, SS. Peter and Paul, and All Saints. There is to be no fasting or any abstinence on any of the eight holidays retained.

Demand of Business Cause. "Considering the special circumstances of our age it is our duty to introduce some opportune changes in the ecclesiastical law as to the observance of feast days of precept," says the letter. "Increased commerce and the additional demands of business seem to suffer loss from the delays caused by frequent feast days, and the increased cost of the necessities of life makes it additionally desirable that the service work of those who gain their living by labor may not be too often interrupted."

"The feast days to be retained on the church calendar are then listed. New dates for the observance of the feast of St. Joseph and the nativity of St. John the Baptist are provided for, each with an octave or eight days following. The feast of St. Joseph is to be celebrated with the hearing of holy mass and abstinence from service work on March 19, if that day is a Sunday, and the feast of the nativity of St. John the Baptist to be on the Sunday preceding the feast of SS. Peter and Paul.

Many Feast Days Eliminated. There are many feast days during the church calendar year which will be eliminated in Milwaukee and which will be quietly observed at the services in the churches on the Sundays following the dates of their previous observance, according to the Rev. Bernard Traudt, vice chancellor of the archdiocese of Milwaukee and secretary to Archbishop Messner. He also says that in some of the foreign countries there are more feast days during the year than there are in this country, and that the number of these will be greatly reduced. He says that where two feast days have been celebrated in one week, that both will be observed on the following Sunday, the same as when but one occurs.

NOTES FOR CITY FARMERS ONLY.

(By I. L. JANN.)

We have a letter from a young lady who says that she got stung by a matrimonial bureau and wants to know if there is any redress. None that we know of, Berlin. The mere fact that you drew a prize with lot like a premium and a face that would curdle the milk in a fountain pen is no reason why the courts should restore your fortune and pristine innocence. The matrimonial bureau has palmed off many a winsome widow with a 50-cent waist to a lean suitor with a hop breath that would fill the trimmings of the chandelier and she had about as much chance of redress as the man who buckles the board of trade with a lead dollar. The courts are not designed to protect females who can't tell a real man from a link of summer sausage.

The safety pin is the greatest invention since the discovery that a robust war answers every purpose of a bone collar button. There is no necessity for a man to become a shoulder board wearing binding twin galluses when he can snap a safety pin on his liver and go about in perfect comfort. You can hook a pair of pants to a plique vest with a string of open-jawed safety pins and dance every set on the moon with the sweet confidence that they will be harder to shake off than a union suit. The man who rivets a pair of peck-toe stockings to his shirt bone with a safety pin will never be arrested for exposure of a scrawny biceps. Nothing will put a sleep walker behind his schedule quicker than to clamp him to his couch with safety pins which have a grip like a brother Mason who is trying to pass you a gold brick. A friend of ours who was robbed up with brass safety pins was thrown on the operating table with a P. D. Q. call for amputations and before they charged him with other they had to induce his brother with a blow-pipe. The safety pin sticks tighter than a hook agent on a 90 per cent commission.

MICHIGAN PEACHES ARE REPORTED GOOD

Reports From Michigan Fruit Country Are Most Promising—Big Production in Local Orchards.

Reports from the fruit section of Michigan are most favorable as regards the peach crop and it is likely that when the Michigan product comes on the market the prices are doomed to fall. "This is one of the best fruit years which Michigan has ever had," said a merchant recently, who had just come from the field. The trees are said to be loaded with an abundance of peaches of superior quality, and it is estimated that the production this year will approach the record. At the same time the drought is very keenly felt all over Michigan but it is believed that the apples and peaches are far enough along so that they will not be affected.

Shipments of peaches are now received from the south, from Arkansas and Georgia, chiefly, while the New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland crop is going largely to New York and Philadelphia. However, the southern offerings, while of a high quality have not been abundant, and as a result the prices so far have been rather high. When the Michigan and Ohio crop is marketed lower prices will prevail.

There are some very good apples from home orchards to be found in the local market. While they are not as large as they sometimes are, the quality is good and they are in great demand. Nearly every tree that has any care at all is heavily laden with fruit.

Eastern Outlook. The apple prospects in the east, according to reports from the Pittsburg market, are very promising. The outlook in northwestern West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania is very favorable to the growers. In Ohio, Columbia county, Jefferson county and Belmont have about 30 per cent of a crop. While they are not very extensive growers, the fruit is fine. Washington and Deaver counties, Pa. have about 75 per cent of a normal yield with fruit fine. The northwestern counties of West Virginia have the best crop since 1904. Marshall county, Ohio county and Brook are not heavy growers, but the crop is fine. Hancock county, the home of the yellow twig apple, is the banner county of the State. In an area of 20 square miles they will have between 5,000 and 100,000 barrels this year, mostly Willows, Rome Beauties, a few Ben Davis and a few other varieties. Growers sprayed effectively this year and the fruit is almost perfect. If weather conditions are favorable for the rest of the season the fruit will show 90 per cent perfect apples.

POSTAL AUTHORITIES MAKE STRICT RULING

Vulgar and Suggestive Postal Cards Can Not Be Sent Through the Mails.

Frank R. Hiltchek, postmaster general, has issued a general order to the various postmasters in the country to observe greater strictness in barring vulgar and suggestive picture postal cards from the mails.

It is the claim that a number of large concerns in Europe are manufacturing such cards. These cards are to be confiscated and sent to the dead letter office, and the senders punished.

This order also stipulates that anyone in the postal service connected in any way with selling or sending such cards upon being found guilty will be dismissed. This ruling is directed principally against the suggestions in the cities. These stations are mostly drug stores, where postal cards are sold.

"The fight against these suggestive cards has always been waged by the postal department," said a postal authority. "We are powerless to stop the sale of these cards. That is a matter for the state authorities to take up."

But when once they are mailed the postal department will get after the sender. The merchant who sells suggestive cards that these can be sent through the mails is just as liable to punishment as the sender.

The Janesville office every week holds up on an average of fifty suggestive cards. These are sent to the dead letter office at Washington. In the past this was all that could be done in the matter, but under the new ruling the senders will be prosecuted, when their identity can be learned.

ONLY LIGHT RAINS ARE PROMISED FOR MONTH OF AUGUST

One Severe Storm Wave Predicted by Foster Bureau But Showers Will Not Be Very Abundant.

Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent August 12 to 14, with waves 9 to 13, cool waves 12 to 14. This will bring one of the high temperature waves of August, but of course no one will expect any hot weather in August as we had in July. It will also bring an increase in the force of storms and therefore a more severe weather than usual. Following this storm wave and as the cool wave comes in will probably come more rain than from any other storm of the month. After that period of showers is over rainfall will decrease to end of August.

Few August Rains. But August rains will be deficient in the northern states except in a few localities. They will also be deficient in that part of the states that lie near the Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico coasts. The interior parts of the cotton states seem to have a promise of fair rains during August.

The Canadian middle northwest spring wheat country is promised less than usual rain for August and September. In most parts of that section sufficient moisture is now in the soil to make fair crops and the deficiency of rain for August and September will probably do no harm.

Cool Wave Coming. Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about August 14, cross Pacific coast by close of 15, great central valleys 16 to 18, eastern sections 20. Warm wave will reach central valleys about August 14, great central valleys 16, eastern sections 18. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about August 17, great central valleys 19, eastern sections 21.

Cooler weather will prevail during the days' transit of this disturbance and showers will be of frequent occurrence. But they will be clearing up showers followed by dryer weather and the storm will be of small caliber. In northern sections the temperatures will go near the frost line as the cool wave crosses continent 17 to 21. Low temperatures were expected with the cool wave moving eastward August 6 to 10 with a probability of light frosts in some northern sections.

I have secured a few copies of the booklet, "Long Range Weather Forecasts," which will be mailed free to subscribers of this paper on receipt of stamp. Address: Foster's Weather Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Wheat Prospects. Many letters of inquiry have been received from the great wheat slops east of the Rockies asking about the prospects of a wheat crop for 1912.

I have never tried to get out such forecasts in time for seedling but will do so this year. I am confident that such forecasts can be worked out and that they will prove to be good. On account of the dry weather of 1911 the wheat should be sown late. From Saskatchewan to Texas a great variety of conditions prevail and while some sections will produce good wheat this year other sections will fail. Northern parts of that great wheat producing area 200,000 square miles, including spring wheat, while the southern and middle sections produce the winter grain.

In that section a few good crops produce wealth and a few bad crops poverty. If the bible account is correct the Hebrews and Egyptians in Egypt profited by Joseph's long range forecasts of the seven years of famine, followed by the seven years of plenty. What good reason can be given why the human race may not possess as much knowledge and wisdom as in the days of the Pharaohs and Hebrews in Egypt?

OLD VETERAN MADE APPEAL FOR HELP

Same Man Who Was Alleged To Have Attempted Suicide Here Aided in Beloit.

When the pitiful tale of an old soldier becoming tired of life broken by years and financial reverses, attempted suicide in Janesville recently rather than seek aid many expressed pity. Investigation however revealed the fact that he was apparently an old soldier seeking sympathy and a few "drops that cheer," and while he was aided financially he hung about the city for a few days and then left for the south. Now he has worked the sympathies of the Beloit residents as the following story will show:

"The police picked up an old soldier last night, who was trying to reach the soldier's home in Danville, Ill. The old man gives his name as J. W. Harrigan of St. Louis, Mo., and says he is 75 years old. He is slightly blind and was wandering about the streets in a helpless condition when he was picked up."

"Harrigan says he lost all his money in the Clyde Creek mines at the time of the big strike there several years ago. He responded to the first call for volunteers in the civil war and was at the battle of Williams Creek when General Lyons was killed. The old Missourian started out this spring to see a comrade in Minneapolis whom he had served with for a greater part of the war. When he reached Minneapolis, he found that his comrade was dead and that his family had moved to Danville."

"Without money or friends the old soldier started out for Danville, where several of his comrades are in the soldier's home. When he reached Beloit, his strength gave out and he told his troubles to the police. Chief Quinlan bought the veteran a ticket for Danville and put him on board a train."

Tip From the Walter.

"Do you know," says William Curry, "that it was a colored waiter who showed me that putting a spoon in the cup would keep the coffee from spilling in the dining car and saving moving train? How many folks know that?"

Yield of Almond Oil. One hundred pounds of almonds yield 18 pounds of oil.

COUNTLESS NUMBERS WORN AND HALF SICK

United States Contains Many Men and Women With No Energy and Little Vitality.

Every large city in the United States contains countless numbers of worn out, half sick men and women with poor appetites and bad digestion. They have no energy, little vitality, and are dispondent and nervous.

They have cold feet, mallow complexion and they say they are run down.

The right name for this trouble is nervous debility and it is produced by the strain and hustle and worry of modern life.

Many think indigestion causes the half bad feeling which afflicts them and they take "something to digest their food."

This is all wrong. It may afford temporary relief but the cause of their stomach trouble is the nervous, debilitated condition of the entire system and this must be overcome before the stomach will perform its functions properly.

Nervous debility is a modern ailment caused by city life. There is a modern tonic that overcomes this trouble like magic. It is called Tona Vita. If you are afflicted with nervous debility don't wait another day feeling miserable. Stop doing your stomach. Get the great tonic and you will be astonished how quickly your strength and ambition will return and how your stomach trouble will disappear.

Tona Vita is sold on trial and must bring back your health or the price is refunded.

Lee's Rhubarb Laxative is the assistant remedy to Tona Vita and is used in cases of chronic constipation. There is nothing equal to rhubarb as a natural harmless laxative. Harsh drugs strain the intestines and leave them weak. Rhubarb acts as a tonic and gives them strength. Tona Vita and Lee's Rhubarb Laxative are sold in Janesville by the Smith Pharmacy. They are splendid modern medicines.
